

Thai Tasty May Bank Holiday Weekend Menu!

Order by Thursday, delivered fresh on Saturday.

First of all we would like to apologise (especially to the hungry kids!) that the orders were delivered later than expected last time. We were a touch overwhelmed by the fantastic support shown by our friends who ordered a staggering 35 starters, 45 mains and 25 sides. We were expecting about 10 of each! We hope the wait was worth it and this time we will start a bit earlier.

We have introduced a rough Thai Tasty spice level guide from S0=no spice S1=mild S2=slightly spicy S3=spicy S4=hot lips S5=runny nose and sweating! Please note that this is not an exact science. Imon cooks from the heart, not recipes, so if she's angry at me then 'hot lips' could easily end up as 'runny nose'.

Cooking is Imon's hobby and many of you will of tasted some of her cuisine at our home already. It is this kind of home cooked food, using fresh produce and authentic Thai vegetables, herbs and spices that she will be cooking on the first Saturday of every month.

If you aren't around this weekend, never mind. You can order now and Thai Tasty can fast-freeze most dishes so you can have a delicious home cooked Thai meal whenever it suits you. If you want fresh rice or roti just let Imon know 30 minutes before you need it and she will cook it for you.

Perfect for Sunday lunch, a spicy Thai banquet is an excellent pick me up and hangover cure as it masks pain signals and releases endorphins!
